We have been privileged by our own people and self-control in some degree to steady the compass and shape the hopes and purposes of a day of fear and distress. Our people have looked upon their own life as a nation with a deeper comprehension, a fuller realization of their responsibilities as well as of their blessings, and a keener sense of the moral and practical significance of what their part among the nations of the world may come to be.

The martial efforts of foreign war in their own industrial and commercial affairs have made them feel the more fully and see the more clearly their mutual interdependence upon one another and has stirred them to a help to cooperation as they have seen a shaken by a great moral stimulation. Their earnest faith and desire to help to those who are suffering their readiness to help and to think of the needs of others have revealed them to themselves as well as to the world.

Our people will find all who need food, the self-possession of our people amidst the most serious privations and hardships and the steadiness and resourcefulness of our business men will serve other nations as well as our own.

The business of the country has been supplied with new instrumentalities and the confidence of the world with new channels of trade and intercourse. The Panama canal has been opened to the commerce of the nations. The two continents of America have been bound in closer ties of friendship. New instrumentalities of international trade have been created which will be also new instrumentalities of human love, intercourse and mutual service. Never before have the people of the United States been so united for their own advantage or the advantage of their neighbors or so equipped to serve themselves and mankind.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people through out the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"I witness whereof I have heretofore set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

Done at the City of Washington this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

H. C. SULLIVAN FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY.
We are authorized to announce H. C. SULLIVAN, of Lawrence county, as a candidate for the nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney for the 32nd Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

G. W. CASTLE FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY.
G. W. Castle, of Lawrence county, announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney for the 32nd Judicial District, primary election in August 1915, earnestly requesting the support of all Democrats of the district.

We are authorized to announce JOHN M. WAUGH as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 32nd Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the primary of August, 1915.

We are authorized to announce W. D. O'NEAL, JR., as a candidate for the nomination for Circuit Judge of the 32nd Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

We are authorized to announce JUDGE M. M. REDWINE as a candidate for Circuit Judge of the district composed of Lawrence, Elliott, Carter and Morgan counties, subject to the action of the Democrats in the primary election the first Saturday in August, 1915.

It is the first time that the Democrats ever raised the tariff and retained control of the House at the next election.

Representative John J. Fitzgerald, of New York, the oldest Democratic member in the House, won by a reduced majority.

Secretary Bryan issued a statement declaring that the election results could not be construed as otherwise than an endorsement of the President and his policies.

A herd of eighteen cattle was ordered destroyed in Bullitt county because of the foot and mouth disease. Burman Stockyards closed to all traffic pending a thorough disinfection.

Democrats will have 233 members in the next House; Republicans, 133; Progressives, 7; Independents, 1; Socialists, 1, according to returns compiled by South Trimble, clerk of the House.

Two naval victories of great importance were secured by England Tuesday when the cruisers Emden and Koeningberg were removed from action. The Emden, having sunk twenty-two British vessels, was vanquished by the Australian cruiser Stirling and then beached. The Koeningberg has been bottled up in an East African river. More recruits were called for by England when enlistment blanks were sent to every man on the voting list.

It is almost the invariable rule that two years after a presidential election in which Congress goes with the President the House of Representatives is carried decisively by the opposition.

That it is not so carried this year is a signal victory for the President and his party.

And that such a victory could be won this year when many think that influence the unthinking voter against the party in power handicapped the Administration, is a remarkable evidence of the strength of the President, who was elected as a hope and who is now informed as that hope more than made good.

The Russian ambassador to Italy, in a statement regarding the Turkish attacks in the Black Sea, said that the action of Constantinople can only be defined as "Turkish." He declared that the Turks had committed a fearful error and that it would mark the end of Turkey as a European State.

The result of the election last week was a great Democratic victory. With the Progressive party casting a very insignificant vote the lower House will be Democratic by a plurality of forty and the lead in the Senate is increased to sixteen. The Congress elected two years ago came in on the "grout" landslide ever recorded in United States, and with the Bull Moose voting strong. Therefore, a comparison with the unprecedented majority of Democrats elected to the lower House then is no criterion by which to judge the result this year. In other words, when fairly considered, a comparison of that election and this does not prove that this year's result is a Republican victory. Previous to two years ago the Republicans had a good majority in every Congress since the one elected in 1892. Then to come along this year in the face of all the adverse conditions and elect a Congress, with a plurality of 40, is certainly a great victory. It is true that Ohio returned to her normal Republican position. New York also went back to where she stood for so many years. But Tennessee came back to the Democrats and some of the western and northwestern states which have not been Democratic have elected Democrats this fall.

The following from the Kentucky political column in the Cincinnati Enquirer:

Senator Johnson N. Camden, who has been numerously importuned by letter and otherwise to get into the gubernatorial race, this week informed the writer that he at present has no inclination to seek further political honors, and that he likely would not be a candidate for Governor.

"The truth of the matter is," said he, "that while I had an ambition to occupy a seat in the United States Senate, as my father had done, my entry into politics grew out of a desire to aid my friend, John C. C. Mayo, who had a strong ambition to go to the Senate, and I also thought that my friend, Rufus Vansant, might want to be Governor. So I took an interest. By a trend of events, not of my shaping, I became a member of the United States Senate, and my much-appreciated appointment as such by Governor McCreary has now been reaffirmed by the people of the state. I now feel that I have been amply honored, and that some other Democrat should be chosen Governor." Senator Camden, however, will make a thorough analysis of the letters and verbal requests he has received before he determines upon his final announcement in the matter.

Washington, Nov. 9 The Democrats among the Kentucky members of the Congress which begins March 4 next will immediately take a most prominent place in the administration of the affairs of the nation, due to the remarkable showing made by them in the recent elections. Leading men in the present administration are coming to the fact that Kentucky, although generally listed with the "solid South" States, was one of the States in which it was recognized that a real fight was possible, due to the putting forward of the tariff issue by the Republicans and the Moores.

Accepting the gage of battle, and making the campaign on the administration of Woodrow Wilson, Senators James and Camden and Governor Beekham went into the fight as the defenders of the Wilson administration all the way through. They met on Monday, Nov. 9, at Lexington, Kentucky, was one of the few States, Indiana being one of the others, in which the Democracy was so signally successful in the face of a real contest. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Kansas and other States where the Democratic candidates had to meet real opposition, went Republican. Kentucky and Indiana went Democratic overwhelmingly.

Orders are Beginning to Pour In.

Exporting Coal.
Orders for coal for South American countries are steadily increasing. A Philadelphia firm has just received a commission for 75,000 tons. This replaces business formerly held by England. There is also a very heavy movement of coal to Mediterranean ports as well as to Spain. The recent shipments of the Norfolk & Western at its Norfolk pier of coal for export were at the rate of several hundred thousand tons per month over last year.

Orders for Canned Meats.
An order for 15,000,000 pounds of canned meats, valued at $1,500,000, to go to Europe, has been received by an Oklahoma City packing company. Additional orders for dry salt pork amount to more than the supply in sight.

Underwear Needed.
The Lockwood mills, of Pennsylvania, have received an order for 250,000 suits of underwear from the British Government. All the textile mills in this section are running to their fullest capacity.

Hob-Nailed Boots for France.
New England manufacturers of shoes have already looked orders for 2,000,000 pairs for export to the European belligerents. France desires hob-nailed boots for her soldiers. The W. H. McElwain Co., which received an order for 200,000 pairs for France, has had the order increased to 500,000 pairs. The Endicott Johnson Co. is making 500,000 pairs for Greece.

There is a corresponding boom in leather. One large company, with an annual turn over of $12,000,000, is running its factories day and night at 125 per cent capacity. Before the war it was running 40 per cent.

Most of the leather is for England. Its demand for leather has put up the price four to six cents a foot.

Horses for the Armies.
Stock dealers say that representatives of the warring European nations are in Tennessee buying up mules and horses for use by the belligerents. It is said that 10,000 of these animals will be sent to Europe in the near future, many being sent to Memphis and other to New Orleans for shipment. England and France are the heaviest buyers. One buyer has already shipped to the English army more than 60 car loads of horses.

Eight hundred horses were inspected by French representatives at Springfield, Mo., 20,000 additional head of horses are to be purchased in Missouri and Southern Illinois. A uniform price of $270 is being paid for each horse. It is stated that the German Government is offering $500 to $800 a head for horses delivered in Germany.

HATCHER-LANCASTER NUPTIALS.

Big Sandy river and who ranks in wealth next to the late Col. J. C. Mayo, who was a personal friend of the bride's father. Her father is also an uncle of P. Tom Hatcher, the defeated Democrat in the Tenth Congressional district. On her mother's side of the house the bride can trace her ancestry back to 1623, her ancestors, the Hatches, having emigrated to America from Herefordshire, England, at that time. Mrs. Lancaster's grandfather, Dr. James H. Hereford, always boasted of his royal blood and was a cousin of King Henry III. The Hereford was born in Alexandria, Fairfax county, Va., and came to Louisa, Ky., at an early day. He served as surgeon in 39th Ky. regiment. He was known as the greatest physician throughout Kentucky and Tennessee at that time. He being of a proud nature and possessing more than ordinary intellect, made him a man of much renown.

Mr. Lancaster can also boast of his royal blood, his ancestry dating back to Don Carlos de Arce under British rule. His great grandfather was from Lancashire, England, and crossed the waters at an early day to America and settled at Orange C. H., Orange county, Va. His grandfather, who belonged to one of the first families of Virginia, came to Kentucky with his family and almost an army of slaves or servants before the war and settled in Woodford county.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster are spending their honeymoon with the bride's mother, and a more delightful place the writer thinks could not be found this side of Heaven, as Heaven and earth seem to almost meet right here, for the "old Kentucky Home" is right on the bank where the sweet Kentucky flows and with its placid waters flowing through the grand palisades and the magnificent scenery overlooking it, a poet's dream and a lover's retreat.

Mr. Lancaster met his bride for the first time during the noon at Lexington in October 1913, and it was a case of love at first sight. Miss Hatcher completely captivated the heart of her future husband with her gentleness of manner and winning ways, and with a whirlwind correspondence of one year he won one of the Sandy's fairest and purest daughters, which terminated in this romantic marriage as previously stated.

Mr. Lancaster is a prominent Woodford county farmer and tobacco grower and is known far and near for his honesty and exemplary character, and is well worthy of the young lady he has chosen for a partner through life, and we feel sure with their ardent wishes and high aspirations that they will make good wherever they locate, and will have a long happy and prosperous life and we think their hearts are so blended that it will be a sort of gladness and end as a Perfect Day. ### The Few Cases in Lawrence County are Being Looked After.

As reported in the NEWS last week, there are several cases of black leg amongst the young cattle in two of three localities of Lawrence county. Vaccination is being resorted to for preventing and it is hoped the trouble will soon be eradicated.

Mr. E. S. Kogler, the County Agricultural Agent, has a vaccine especially adapted to vaccinating cattle. Also, he is in position to furnish the vaccine matter sooner than it may be had otherwise. Make application direct to him at Louisa for the virus.

It is of paramount importance that all carcasses of animals that have died from black leg should be properly destroyed either by deep burial or preferably by burning.

If the animal dies in the pasture it should be burned on the spot, and the ground in the immediate neighborhood thoroughly disinfected with chloride of lime or an abundance of ordinary unslacked lime.

It, however, it becomes necessary to remove the carcass to some other point it should be remembered that the ground over which it is moved, and everything with which it comes in contact may become infected, and requires thorough disinfection.

Louisa People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Louisa who suffer with weak kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing testimony of Louisa people. Here's a case:

Mrs. R. Lewis, Franklin St., Louisa, says: "For a long time I suffered from various symptoms of kidney complaint. I experimented with many remedies but found no benefit until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. They gave me freedom from backache, strengthened my kidneys and bladder and improved my health. I am glad to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. Price five, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lewis had. ## DEMOCRATS APPRECIATE WORK OF CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN RHEA

HON. THOMAS S. RHEA

In the placing of credit for the splendid Democratic victory in Kentucky on Tuesday, the major portion is being handed to Thomas S. Rhea, of Logan county, State Treasurer who led the fight for Beckham and Camden as Chairman of the Democratic State Campaign Committee. It was an old time Democratic victory, probably the greatest in Kentucky in thirty years, the majority going above anything given the party in that long time, and Mr. Rhea was the recipient of hundreds of telegrams complimenting him on his leadership and campaign management for the party.

It is conceded that the overwhelming result was largely due to organization, in getting the people aroused and to the polls to vote. Chairman Rhea has long been known down in the Third Congressional district as a campaigner, but this was his first experience covering so much territory. He brought the methods of organization which made him so successful in county and district politics into the state light. He devoted every energy to the work, selecting his own campaign committee and all of his assistants and personally directing every move that was made. Not content with running one special train through Kentucky bearing a national character, Mr. Rhea, as the star speaker, he conducted another on a more extensive scale, which carried only Kentuckians as speakers and campaigners. This proved more successful than the first and did much to arouse the voters to the necessity for turning out on the day of election. County and precinct campaign committees were everywhere named early in the contest, and were kept in touch with the state organization and workers' bureau to the end that every section of Kentucky had its Democratic speakers working upon the people the necessity for going to the polls and voting to uphold President Wilson and his peace policies for the American people.

The one feature of Chairman Rhea's campaign which particularly stands out in the political battle just won was in his handling of the political situation in the city of Louisville and the Fifth Congressional district. Confronted when he undertook to make the party campaign with the fact that the head of the ticket had lost Louisville in the primary last August, and coming out of that city in the election of Tuesday with over twelve thousand majority for that nominee, Democratic hats are off to their chairman. Further, he had to deal with the fact that Louisville had had the habit for several years past of only weakly supporting Democratic candidates and very often giving a majority against them at the polls. Out of all of this he brought a result that far surpassed the expectations of those who were associated with him in the fight for the largest Democratic majority the Fifth district has given in over a quarter of a century.

The same clever methods that brought this about in Louisville served as well in pretty nearly every section of the state in the election of Tuesday. Every Congressional district worked harmoniously with the State Chairman, and in every one of them the vote was nearly such as it would have been with local races on in the counties.

That the victory just achieved paves the way for Democratic success in the State election of next year is the opinion of the party leaders and every one conversant with political affairs in Kentucky. It demonstrates, they say, that the party is harmonious and united.

DR. COLLIER INTERVIEWED. Hocking Valley Courier

Dr. S. R. Collier and Mrs. Collier have returned from their trip to Springfield, where Doctor has been taking a treatment for rheumatism. His health is much better now than it has been for some time and the Courier reporter interviewed him in regard to the business outlook.

"Doctor, what is the general outlook for business in the oil and other lines?"

"It is encouraging. I believe that after the election that the business of the country will go forward in a way that we have not experienced for some time. There has evidently been an attempt on the part of some of the elements of the high tariff to cause a depression in business for political effect, but this will cease after the election and the business of the country in all branches and lines will be freed from this and I look for an era of prosperity. I believe we have two years and I consider it a successful election and the Wilson administration measures will have had time to have been tried out by this time and I feel confident that they will have a very favorable effect on business, and the wisdom of the Democratic party will have been manifest. I believe the prosperity of the common people is the best safeguard it can have."

What is the outlook for oil business locally? The oil business is hampered by the situation started by the Seawells and we are handicapped by that until the decision of the court has been had. Freed from the uncertainty by this suit the development will proceed vigorously. It is only a question of a short time now until we will know what the result of that suit will be. Of course if the Seawells win, the farmers of Morgan county lose out entirely, but there will be no payables, a reversal for them. But if we win, the suit as before, and the country will be developed as fast as possible."

What is the effect of the suit on the oil business locally?

The suit is a very important one. It is a question of the rights of the farmers of Morgan county and the rights of the oil companies. It is a question of the rights of the people and the rights of the business."

FIRST AID TO MINERS.

Government Bureau Makes Recommendations To Assist in Rescue Work in Coal Fields.

In line with its campaign to reduce the number of deaths in the mines of the United States, the Federal Bureau of Mines some time ago appointed a committee of eminent physicians and surgeons to develop an efficient method of resuscitation to be administered by miners or other persons to a fellow-workman overcome by electric shock or by gases in places which cannot be reached by a physician in time to save life.

As a result of this committee's report just made, the Bureau of Mines, through Director Joseph A. Holmes, recommends the following procedure in rendering first aid to those in need of artificial respiration.

The recommendations apply not only to men who are overcome by electric shock or gases in mines, but also to persons suffering from the effects of illuminating gas poisoning in homes.

In case of gas poisoning remove the victim at once from the gaseous atmosphere. Carry him quickly to the fresh air and immediately give mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration. Do not stop to loosen the clothing, every moment of delay is serious.

In case of electric shock, break electric current instantly. Free the patient from the current with a single quick motion, using any dry conductor, such as clothing, rope, or board, to move patient or wire. Beware of using metal or moist material. Mouth-to-mouth respiration should be continued until the victim breathes.

Attend instantly to the victim's breathing. If the victim is not breathing he should be given artificial respiration at once.

If patient is breathing slowly and regularly, do not give artificial respiration, but let nature restore breathing unaided.

In gas cases, give oxygen. If the patient has been a victim of gas give him pure oxygen with manual artificial respiration.

The oxygen may be given through a breathing bag from a cylinder having a rebreathing valve with connecting tubes and face mask, and with an inspiratory and expiratory valve, of which the latter communicates directly with the atmosphere.

No mechanical artificial resuscitating device should be used unless one operated by hand that has no such effect on the lungs.

Use the Schuster or prone-pressure method of artificial respiration. Begin at once. A moment's delay is serious.

Continue the artificial respiration. If necessary, continue two hours or longer without interruption until natural breathing stops after being restored, use artificial respiration again.

Do not give the patient any liquid until he is fully conscious.

Give him fresh air but keep his body warm.

Send for the nearest doctor as soon as the accident is discovered.

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS.

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

The Mothers in Sickness.

We think the most pathetic passage in the Bible is the description of the lad who went out to the harvest field of Shunem and got sunstroke - throwing out, "Oh, my head, my head!" and they said, "Carry him to his mother." And then the record is "The son of her knees fell upon and then died." It is an awful thing to be ill away from home in a strange hotel, once in a while one comes to bed at night and their hands over their mouth for fear that they will catch the contagion. How roughly they turn you in bed! How loudly they talk! How you long for the ministrations of home! We know one such who went away from one of the brightest of homes for several weeks' business absence at the West. A telegram came at midnight that he was on his death bed far away from home. His express train the wife and daughter went westward, but they went too late. He feared not to die, but he was in agony to live until his family got there. He tried to battle the doctor to make him a little while longer. He said, "I am willing to die but not alone." But the father slipped the eyes closed and the heart stopped. The express train met in the midnight wife and daughters going westward. Little remains of husband and father coming eastward. Oh, it was a sad pitiful, overwhelming spectacle. When we are sick, we want to be sick at home. When the time comes for us to die, we want to die at home. The room may be humble, and the faces that look into ours may be very plain, but who cares for that? Laying heads to bathe the temple. Laying voices to speak good cheer. Laying lips to read the comforting promises of Jesus.

MUTUAL KINDNESS

Kindness, as well as politeness, may be rightfully named as the lubricator of society. As unpoliteness, either in old or young persons, much to trouble to sometimes painted and always unpleasant, so we may say of unkindness, that it is a sore spot, a friction, a dreaded fault to ever be avoided. Kindness always attracts, soothes, troubles, helps the needy, encourages the dull and discouraged, encourages the brave, makes the church and community society. A kind word, like apples of gold in pictures of silver. Many a hot temper has been cooled down by kind words. Many a threatened quarrel and fight has been settled in peace by kindness. Many a divided and distracted household, or organization has quieted down and reunited, by kind counsel and kindness. Many an evil faction has died a natural death by the kindly administration of kindness. Many a wretched and distracted home has been brought to conditions of peace and joy by the mellowing of influences of kind words and deeds. Heavily without number, burdened and achy from ill-treatment have been relieved and healed by kindness. Other hearts, poisoned by jealousy and selfishness, passion and pride have been sweetened and purified by the cultivation of kindly feeling and thoughts. Kindness, to be thorough and effective, must be reciprocal as well as receptive. Whoever would that all others should think that's living around home.

should be kind to them, must themselves be kind to all others; on the principle that he that would have friends must show himself friendly. Kindness may be misplaced sometimes, but that is the exception, and not the rule. They who cultivate and practice kindness feel a world of better than those who indulge in bitterness and ill temper.

Patients should remember that every distressing, blood-curdling story told to a young child, every superstitious fear instilled into his young life, the mental attitude they bear towards him, are making photographic records in his nature which will be reproduced with scientific exactness in his future life.

To you treat your child with as much respect as you treat friends? Example is stronger than precept, and if you treat him with respect he will respect himself. Do you provide amusements for your children at home? If not they will seek them elsewhere. Provide them with good literature, but be careful not to place within their reach the life history of an outlaw. Help your children with their studies, be kind yet firm, and though your home has been a robe-log cabin the children will not stray from the place where have dwelt.

Home is not merely four square walls. Though hung with pictures nicely gilded. Home is where affection calls, filled with the strains the heart has bubbled.

A true husband will provide his wife with the most comforting partnership. Woman is neither superior nor inferior to man. She is only different. A man may have a professional secret from his wife, but never a personal secret. It is well to confide to wives business matters. Women have an instinct at times superior to man's reason.

Suffered Twenty-One Years--
Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally found relief in Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root. Injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours, MRS. JOSEPHINE CONSTANCE, Happls Par., Elio, La.

GEMS FROM JIM ALLEN

Mr. Matt Holt of Louisville, has been making speeches for the Progressive party. That's the fact-holt in Kentucky.

Speaking of names, what's the matter with Stokes Lee, who lauged himself in the Princeton, Ky. jail?

When a fly tries to warm his cold feet on your warm bald head these frosty mornings, he thinks he has struck a soft thing.

In the light of recent butcher shop disclosures at Louisville, there was more truth than poetry in the wittol lines "My 'Hot dog' at the State Fair and home."

Most inconsiderate Irish in President Woodrow Wilson. At his address before the A. M. A. at Pittsburgh he advised the boys not to follow him, who stand still.

The Department of Agriculture declares the yield per colony of bees this year is only one pound. In 1913 it was ten pounds. The Republicans will attribute this falling off to the Pennsylvania cow tax.

All of the lawyers of Glasgow, Ky. have entered into an agreement not to defend bootleggers. That's an example that might be followed with profit and credit to the lawyers in some other "dry" towns.

The Louisville Times, thanks the "New Day" for its prayer for children in that city should be revised as follows: "Now I lay me down to rest, my platter of mysterious meat. And when I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep. If I wake, when I know before I wake, I'll know I've had some cancer, false equine steak."

ADULT ILLITERACY IN STATE OF KENTUCKY.

(City Supt. Barksdale Hamlett) Adult illiteracy is the greatest single handicap under which Kentucky is staggering today. It keeps blind the individual, it hinders public and private education; it retards the economic development of the State, and it goes far toward furnishing a debauched electorate.

IT HINDERS THE INDIVIDUAL--Development and progress come to people and States largely through contact. The illiterate is cut off from this contact. He is limited in his life to the now and the here. His associates are as a rule those of his own class. From them he cannot learn; the blind cannot lead the blind. Hemmed in as to his intellectual life the illiterate goes to form a class of people, suspicious and unprogressive.

IT HINDERS EDUCATION--The upward movement of any people is in direct ratio to popular education. Illiteracy is an "old man of the sea" upon the back of education. Like leeches bleed, illiteracy bleeds illiteracy. It is the worst enemy of education. The illiterate parent often is entirely indifferent and sometimes actually opposed to education. "I never had any brain, and I have lived" is a common excuse among illiterate parents. The children of such people form the problem of the future. No greater thing can be done for the schools of this State, than to stamp out cause for all this evil of adult illiteracy.

IT RETARDS ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT--As a rule, the illiterate is poor. Of course, there are exceptions to this rule, but such exceptions only emphasize the rule. A great effort is now being made to improve the agricultural conditions in this State. Adult illiteracy stands in the way. No farm journal, no bulletin, no message, except by word of mouth can reach these unfortunate classes. Adult illiteracy bars the way of agricultural progress, and to eliminate it will fertilize every till of corn and every bush of wheat in the State. Every dollar spent in this righteous cause is like the water that rises from the sea to fall again on the land, bringing beauty and abundance to us.

IT DEBAUCHES THE ELECTORATE--The very hope of our institutions lies in the virtue and intelligence of the electorate. Ignorant and venal voters are a standing menace to free institutions. Ignorance has ever been the greatest foe to popular institutions. If Kentucky politics are ever to be improved, the tens of thousands of voters who cannot read the ballot must be taught to read.

EFFORTS TO ELIMINATE ILLITERACY--An heroic effort is now being made to drive out of our great State the curse of illiteracy. Every man and woman who loves humanity should help this cause ably. It is a patriotic movement. It is altruism of a practical kind. It is good business; it is statesmanship. Let everyone who can lend a helping hand. Let critics keep silent while this battle with Kentucky's greatest foe is being fought and won.

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

The Lethor Elson Court was called together by County Judge Henry T. Day for the purpose of discussing further the bridge question, and after the subject was thoroughly discussed it was decided to abandon the building of the bridge across the Kentucky River at Roxana, ten miles below here, although they decided to build the bridge across the river at Alvah. A number of new bridges are already under construction in the county, while five or six were built last year. Thousands of dollars of the county's money is being expended in the work.
